Can you imagine driving 3,000 miles in four days? Last June, my older brother Balen and I drove from our house in Oregon to his new apartment in Chapel Hill, North Carolina. (0) C I went along for different reasons. Before I left home, my mother told me this would be a life-changing experience. At the time, I laughed at her and said, 'Yeah, right, Mom, I'm 16. How is this trip going to change my life?' Afterwards I realized I should have listened to her.

My first reason for taking the trip was to keep Balen company and to get to know him better. I'd always been his irritating little sister, but now that I was sixteen, I wanted that to change. We spent the time listening to music and eating the sandwiches and cookies Mom had packed. (1) _____ They ranged from 'Why are Mom and Dad so weird? (me) to 'Why don't you know how to read a map? (him). The truth is, we went the wrong way so many times, Balen must have been really annoyed with me. We also chatted a lot about school. (2) _____ Unlike me, my brother was a superstar at school. He was one of those children every parent wants!

Another of my reasons for going on the trip was to have a vacation outside my home town. We drove through Oregon, Idaho, Utah, Wyoming, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri and Tennessee on our way to North Carolina. (3) _____ The problem was the majority of the landscape was boring highway. Occasionally, we stopped for gas at an interesting place and got to explore.

We spent our first night in a motel outside Salt Lake City, Utah. The city is a big busy place with an overground train system running through the streets. On the second night we stayed at a hotel in a small town in Nebraska. It would have been fine, but the next morning, we were trapped for hours in a huge rainstorm. On our final night, we were in Nashville, Tennessee. Nashville's famous for country music and there was a big country music festival taking place. (4) _____ We tried six hotels and realized we ought to have booked something. At last we found a room, but it was very expensive. When we finally arrived in North Carolina, we didn't have a lot of money left, but we'd had a fantastic time.

Thinking about the trip now, realize my mom was right – it did change my life. It showed me that there is a big world outside our small city, and I want to see it all. A road trip is a great way to get to know the person you are travelling with. (5) _____ It would also help if you can read a map.

- a) As a result, it was very difficult to find a place to stay.
- b) Just make sure you have lots of CDs and lots of patience.
- c) He made the journey to start a new job at a big computer company there.
- d) I had only been to three of these states before, so there were a lot of new things to see.
- e) The best bit about the trip was arriving in North Carolina.
- f) We also had lots of interesting conversations.
- g) Well, I listened and Balen gave me lots of advice about how to make friends and get good exam results.
